Six Bridges Six Miler

Race Director: Brad Colwell

Four runners showed for a run from Riverfront Park that crossed the Susquehanna River six times. Runners crossed the Harvey Taylor Bridge on the north walkway, went under the bridge on the west shore and returned on the south walkway. The course then headed south to and across the Walnut Street bridge and then around the ballparks on the City Island. Runners then retraced their steps back to Riverfront Park. The average of the GPS watches measured the course to be 6.16 miles.
